

EMERGE

HANNAH BLACKMORE

2 MARCH - 26 APRIL 2021
STUDIO GALLERY
SALAMANCA ARTS CENTRE
HOBART TASMANIA

The making of art is usually a private affair, a process between the artist and their materials in the privacy of the studio. A journey of creation with no invitation to view until there is a finished piece. In this exhibition with a twist, artist Hannah Blackmore invites you to take part in the complete process of making paintings, from start to finish. Including the good bits, the bad bits, the tears, the tantrums, the triumphs, fuelled by copious cups of tea. Twenty blank canvases will be hung on day one. The paintings will then be painted live over the course of thirty days. You are welcome to come and view the paintings in progress as many times as you want throughout the month of March, then see the finished pieces on display in April. The focus will be abstract landscapes inspired by the colours and moods of Tasmania. See the paintings come to life before your own eyes.

HANNAH BLACKMORE

Hannah Blackmore is a Jersey-born Fine Art painter based in Hobart, Tasmania. Creating landscapes of the natural world, her work allows her to continually explore new places and a variety of painting techniques, inviting the viewer to feel nature in different ways.

Hannah comes from a creative family and has made art all her life, going full-time in 2015. Working in acrylic, her work has significantly evolved over the years since completing a Fine Art degree in the U.K.

Hannah seeks inspiration from the environment around her, with coastal colours and moods being a focal point. As a resident artist of Salamanca Arts Centre, Hannah is an established member of the arts community in Hobart. She is passionate about teaching business skills to artists through her membership site This Business of Art.
